

What is IEA ?

The International Ergonomics Association is the federation of ergonomics and human factors societies from around the world. The mission of IEA is to elaborate and advance ergonomics science and practice, and to improve the quality of life by expanding its scope of application and contribution to society.

IEA aims to promote the knowledge and practice of ergonomics by initiating and supporting international activities cooperation.

To meet these objectives, IEA supports international cooperation between individuals and organizations active in the field, in order to facilitate the practical application of ergonomics in industry and other areas, and encourages research in the science and practice of ergonomics.

IEA Sustaining membership

The IEA Sustaining Membership program supports the science and application of ergonomics worldwide and it provides exposure and enhances the image of institutional members.

The work of the IEA is accomplished by academicians and practitioners. However, many initiatives vital for the development to ergonomics as a unique science and profession cannot be funded with existing resources.

Funds are then needed to support the development of ergonomics worldwide, including in industrially developing countries, to disseminate ergonomic knowledge to the industry and to society at large, to promote ergonomics education and competency standards, and to support the work of our Technical Committees.

IEA is a non-profit organization. No monetary benefits are given to people involved in the operation of the IEA. This means that 100% of IEA funds support the implementation of the IEA goals.

There are four levels of support on a three year basis, and each level offers specific benefits. The granting of IEA Sustaining Membership does not imply IEA endorsement or approval of company products or services.
