

Application for IEA Membership

The IEA membership is composed of:

- Federated Societies
- Affiliated Societies
- Sustaining Members

Definition of members:

Federated Societies will be societies that have the main aim of promoting ergonomics/human factors and supporting professional ergonomists and human factors specialists in their country or region. They will be bodies that elect a governing council from within their own membership and encourage the free publication of research material. In general, there will be only one Federated Society in any geographical area. Federated Societies vote on IEA issues.

Affiliated Societies will be other national or international professional societies that are ineligible for federated member status or have an interest in ergonomics but have their main aim in an associated area. Affiliated Societies do not vote on IEA issues.

Sustaining Members will be organizations or individuals that have an interest in the Association and support it by the payment of an annual subscription. The conditions of their acceptance will be determined in each individual case. Sustaining Members do not vote on IEA issues.

Qualifications for membership:

Societies applying for or having membership in the IEA as a Federated Society shall meet the following criteria:

1. The society is duly constituted as a legal entity, having official by-laws (or equivalent) and elected representatives. A current copy of the by-laws must be submitted in English.
2. The by-laws or other rules of the society should not deny membership to any person for any reason other than professional qualifications.
3. The society shall have operated at a minimum of one year prior to application.
4. The society shall have a minimum of 25 members whose primary occupation is in an ergonomics area (Federated Societies only).
5. Societies will be accepted provided that they do not present a conflict with existing Federated Societies.

6. Societies applying for IEA membership must complete the questionnaire relating to the position, aim and structure of the applicant.
7. A payment of dues for the first year should be submitted with the application for membership. If the application is not successful, such a payment will be returned to the applicant.

Non payment of the whole annual fee for more than one year renders the Society or Member liable to termination of membership by Council.

IEA fees:

Each Federated and Affiliated Society pays an annual fee consisting of 3% of the total income derived from their membership fees. (Note: A minimum fee of $100 per year was approved by the IEA Council).
