

The IEA Ergonomics Development Award

The IEA Ergonomics Development Award is presented triennially to an individual who has had an international impact on ergonomics in terms of making a contribution or development that:

- Significantly advances the state of the art of existing ergonomics sub-specialty
- Opens up a new area of ergonomics research and/or application.

Any current member of an IEA Federated Society can make a nomination for this award. Self-nominations are allowed. To nominate, please submit the following:

1. A nomination letter that details the achievements and qualifications of the nominee that make him or her an excellent candidate for the award.
2. Letters of recommendation from 2-3 persons who can attest to the individual's qualifications and achievements.
3. The nominee's curriculum vitae or résumé.

Please combine these evidentiary items into a single pdf when submitting to the Awards Committee chair at PastPres@iea.cc, office@iea.cc, and VPSG@iea.cc by 15 January, 2024.
